

EPA Certified Lead-Based Paint Renovators

Effective April 22, 2010, the Federal Government, EPA is requiring contractors who will be doing renovation work on houses that were built prior to 1978, to be Certified Lead Paint Renovators. Brackmann has applied for this certification, and the company owners and Associates have all received the EPA Certified Lead Paint Renovator Certifications as of the end of February 2010. Please see additional information regarding the requirements involved when dealing with lead paint at the following EPA website: <http://www.epa.gov/lead/index.html>

If your home or property was built before 1978 and we are going to do work which involves disturbing painted areas, then we may be concerned with lead paint in your home. You will be provided with a copy of this brochure if your house was built before 1979, and we will ask you to sign an affidavit that you have received the form. Click here to open a brochure for more information.